SYNOPSIS OF PLAY.

Mrs. Greene ordains a dinner party; the lobsters don't come; Mr. Greene forgets all about the event; the "accommodator" is sick; the hostess' 16 year old sister, Patty, expelled from school, turns up, greatly undesired, as a last straw. Patty is sent to bed to get rid of her, but she turns up later in the character of a waitress, flirts with the guest of honor, and has a good time generally, and ends by getting engaged to the guest.

To those who so willingly stretched forth helping hands, and assisted in making our play a success, we are deeply grateful.

We hope to have the pleasure of reciprocating sometime in the future.

"A friend in need, is a friend indeed!"

"Can't watch love too close, honey. Jes' let it shine, an' go 'long yo' way, and be glad. Keep yo' eyes on de flowers, honey, an' laugh, an' love
will follow you wharever you go.
Don't go blind, honey, don't go
blind."
